

<http://coloradoradio.com/?m=200907>

NEWS: Friday July 31, 2009 Posted by Janine Mayfield on July 31st, 2009

Mesa State College announced yesterday that Dr. Bill Sands, formerly Head of Sport Biomechanics and Engineering for the U.S. Olympic Committee in Colorado Springs, has been named Director of the Monfort Family Human Performance Laboratory. He started at Mesa State on May 1 and has spent the summer preparing the new, 2,800 square-foot, state-of-the-art lab in the new Saunders Field House and Health Sciences Center for its fall opening. He has more than 35 years of experience in Olympic sports. Source: Press Release (Posted 5:42a)