V. REPORT FROM HLC STEERING COMMITTEE

Bruch presented on the HLC Self Study process, key findings over the last two years, and the significance of re-affirmation of accreditation for CMU. Bruch distributed concise handbook guides with summary information on five established criterion requirements. Additional guides have been handed out across campus to faculty and staff, and to those attending Self-Study update meetings. More detailed information on CMU accreditation can be accessed at http://www.coloradomesa.edu/self-study/index.html.

The schedule and meeting requests of the HLC team are not yet known, but will likely include formal interviews with FS with advance notification. Bruch emphasized faculty preparation and ability to address the question of “how your role” helps to fulfill the legislative and institution mission of CMU (referenced on page two of guide), and to provide specific examples. Faculty was reminded to review daily “Did you know?” emails and encouraged to attend update sessions (times available on websites).

VI. CONTINUING BUSINESS

A. Bradley reiterated to faculty that recommended additions or changes in criteria that could be evaluated and assessed on course evaluations should be submitted for review. These recommendations should reflect recent changes in assessment and other areas with input on criteria from departments. Given enough changes, Steve Werman will initiate committee participation to implement changes.
B. English language proficiency tables provided by BridgePathways have been placed on R:/drive for review. Comments and questions are encouraged by faculty and may be revised by FS.

VII. NEW BUSINESS

A. Review of Professional Employment Handbook and recommended changes to procedures will take place before the end of fall semester. Bradley stated that although the committee is still looking at refinement of wording changes, feedback is requested for process of revision when requested by professional personnel. Current change procedures for the handbook are outlined under sections A.II. and A.III. The current revision committee includes Tim Casey, Wayne Smith, Randy Phillips, and Patrick Schutz. The committee will begin work after the first of year.

VIII. REPORTS

A. Executive Committee – Schultz-Ela reported on comments on internationalization, with priority given to identifying key issues before going forward with marketing plans. Also discussed were course evaluation criteria and handbook change items.

B. President’s Report – Bradley provided perspective on earlier meeting with Administration on handbook issues. He commended the working relationship with Administration and FS in having a willingness to make improvements, resources to provide feedback on pertinent manners for faculty, and an overall good process in place to make changes. Bradley encouraged any interested faculty to join the handbook task force.

C. Update from Academic Affairs – Futhey requested feedback on potential changes to the early alert system and re-evaluating the current 8-week deadline. Proposals include changing from “satisfactory/unsatisfactory” to grades and to make reporting mandatory. Such changes would additionally eliminate separate reporting for athletics and provide a better “snapshot” of a point in time. Additional adjustments for 2nd mod classes may need further consideration. (Reported out of sequence)

IX. Adjournment

Meeting adjourned at 5:34 PM (Sandstrom).

Respectfully submitted,
Coreen Blair
