The food was Party Game to the lake and they were still a little bit hungry so they went to the shrimp to eat. It was so good when they went to a park. When they went to a park it was so good when they went to a park. When they went to a park it was so good when they went to a park.

Student C

I'd rather have not because I don't want to work that hard. I would not be glad to have with out my tubular my balloons with my family. I like to play cards for that. I can't say sorry I think they had sun given in 1982.

Week Three:

- Student C: Spelling and Capitalization
- Student J: Punctuation (on ground) Capitalization and spelling
- Student K: Capitalization and Appearance

Student J

In my opinion I would rather live in 2020 than have so much more to do than back then you can play on a bikes play on play grounds, play on phones, try tablet what ever trampolan and back then you had to clean and help with animals and play like it in 2020 and things are

Week 4 ?

Week 5 ?

Week 6 ?

Week 1: Listening to the Students

1. Did you remember the oral feedback you received from the previous week to apply to your writing this week?
2. Did you refer back to your written feedback you received from the previous week to apply to your writing this week?
3. As a student, do you prefer oral or written feedback from your teacher?
4. Explain why feedback is important to you as a student?

In Conclusion

I ultimately, after writing learning, I was unable to compare giving students feedback on their writing in person. I was only able to compare the oral part of the feedback to my three students. I was of the three students that had the most feedback and the oral feedback they received from the week before to help them in their writing for the next week. However, when creating this survey project, I had hypothesized that the written feedback would be more beneficial for students generally. I thought written feedback would be more beneficial because the students would have something to refer back to instead of trying to remember the oral feedback. I would like to continue this project in my own classroom one day to find an accurate conclusion to which form of feedback would be more beneficial for students.
