Welcome Back Students

All of us at the TLC want to welcome back our students and give a friendly reminder that tutoring is available for all CMU students. Also, take advantage of our Center’s computer lab and study rooms. Whatever your needs, we want to make the TLC a friendly place to be.

How to prepare for tutoring

Tutoring is can be very helpful, but here are a few tips for what students can do when coming to the TLC to make their tutoring session more productive:

- Try your work on your own first. Doing this helps you decide what you know and don’t know.

- Bring your material. Tutors need to see your textbook and notes so they know exactly what you are working on and how your professor wants the work completed.

- Come ready to do some work. You learn by doing, so the tutors will have you doing a lot of work.

- Have a positive attitude. We understand you may be frustrated, but a positive attitude will make your tutoring session more enjoyable. And you will communicate much more effectively.

“In have always had a hard time studying. She has really helped me learn all sorts off different things to study and just keeps me on track.”

- CMU student

  From a tutor/TLC evaluation

  Fall 2015

In This Issue

- Welcome Back!
- How to be prepared for tutoring
- Tutoring locations and hours
- What We Do
- Question/Concerns?
What We Do

The TLC’s primary function is to tutor students in their academic classes. We tutor mostly essential learning courses, but also a few upper division courses (but we encourage students to talk to their professors first if possible).

In addition to tutoring courses, our tutors can also discuss other skills; like study strategies, note taking, test taking, and how to deal with test anxiety.

And we can help with technology. For example: logging in or navigating D2L, using an excel spreadsheet, or Questions or concerns about tutoring?

Please contact us if you have any question or concerns about tutoring, this includes any complaints. We want the opportunity to help as many students as possible and we take any feedback seriously. Feel free to stop by the TLC on the main campus or call the Coordinator at 970-240-1913.