Anne MacKinnon

Anne MacKinnon is a writer and consultant specializing in translating natural resource management issues for general audiences. A retired member of the Wyoming Bar, former editor-in-chief of the Casper Star-Tribune, and a founding member and former board chair of WyoFile.com, MacKinnon has written, taught, and put on conferences on water issues in Wyoming for 20 years. She served as a member of the Wyoming Water Development Commission from 2003-2011, and in 2014 earned a PhD in natural resource economics at Humboldt University in Berlin, Germany, focusing on water governance. Based in Casper, she is an adjunct professor for the University of Wyoming’s Helga Otto Haub School of Environment and Natural Resources. She published Public Waters: Lessons from Wyoming for the American West with the University of New Mexico Press in May 2021.
