

Douglas L. Jeavons

Doug leads the water and natural resources economics practice at BBC Research & Consulting and has worked at BBC for nearly three decades since receiving his masters in economics from the University of Colorado. He recently directed the study of potential economic impacts from demand management in Western Colorado and also worked as the lead economist for the 2019 Technical Update to the Colorado Water Plan. He splits his time between Denver and Buena Vista, Colorado.